Foreword: AMF Managing Cultural Diversity Training Program

It is my great pleasure to introduce you to the Australian Multicultural Foundation's Managing Cultural Diversity Training Program.

This training program has been developed by the Australian Multicultural Foundation (AMF), in association with Robert Bean Consulting, as a resource for business owners and managers in Australia, to support them in recognising and encouraging cultural diversity in their workplaces.

Australia's diversity is a source of national strength and an asset to Australian industries. It is important that Australian businesses acknowledge the economic and social contribution of a culturally diverse workforce, and make the most of the extensive skills, perspectives and networks of today's multicultural Australia. Resources such as this Managing Cultural Diversity Training Program assist Australian industry and businesses to take advantage of our diversity to improve customer service and competitiveness both here and overseas.

As Australians, we have a tradition of acknowledging and celebrating differences of culture, ethnicity, language and faith within an overall shared sense of identity and purpose. Workplaces are critical in this process. It leads to happier and more productive workplaces and benefits the whole community.

As the Parliamentary Secretary for Multicultural Affairs and Settlement Services, I am proud to offer my support for this Managing Cultural Diversity Training Program. This publication continues the long line of energetic and often visionary work of the AMF in contributing to Australia's success as a multicultural society. I congratulate the AMF on its latest contribution and on embracing this opportunity to help shape the future of Australian business.

Laurie Ferguson
Parliamentary Secretary for Multicultural Affairs and Settlement Services

Foreword: Australian Multicultural Foundation

The Managing Cultural Diversity Training Program has been developed by the Australian Multicultural Foundation and Robert Bean Consulting for Australian business enterprises. This project is proudly supported by the Australian government through the Diverse Australia Program. For more information, visit www.harmony.gov.au.

Australian enterprises face numerous challenges which are characterised and influenced by cultural diversity. Not only must they meet their compliance obligations under a range of anti-discrimination laws, they must also compete for talent, overcome skills shortages, and retain talent by meeting increased employee expectations regarding conditions and opportunities. Enterprises must constantly adapt to the realities of increased workforce and customer diversity so that they can compete in culturally diverse domestic and international business environments.

We are pleased to have been able to produce a manual that can assist your business to address these business challenges and to capitalise on the benefits of managing cultural diversity in the workplace. The program was also developed to ensure that the message of the Scanlon Foundation's 'Taste of Harmony' campaign is translated into ongoing action at the enterprise level. The manual includes all the materials needed to design and conduct training for managers and team leaders that will help them to develop the skills needed to factor cultural diversity into business planning, organisational development and customer service.

The Australian Multicultural Foundation would like to thank Robert Bean for the design and development of this training program and the Australian Government for its initiative to support such a vital program. We would also like to thank all the people from the numerous business enterprises in Melbourne and Adelaide who were involved in the pilot program workshops for their contribution to the development, research and evaluation of the manual.

Training Program Introduction

Objectives

The aim of this training program is to enable small and medium enterprises to better understand cultural diversity and how to manage it effectively to improve workplace performance. This includes relationships, teamwork, productivity, market knowledge, community relationships, customer service and competitiveness. Larger enterprises can also benefit from using this training program. The main training objectives are to enable participants to:

- Learn about cultural diversity in the workforce and the business case for managing cultural diversity
- Identify and consider for their enterprises the actual and potential impacts and benefits of cultural diversity
- Increase their understanding of culture and cross-cultural interactions
- Develop their cultural awareness and cross-cultural communication skills
- Conduct a diversity analysis of their business strategies and operations
- Develop an action plan for managing cultural diversity in their businesses
- Learn about available resources and support services

Supporting Materials

This training workbook is designed for the use of training participants. Extensive supporting materials are included in the accompanying Managing Cultural Diversity Resource Manual (the Manual).

The Manual comprises more detailed notes and discussions of the training program content, which can be brought into a training workshop in addition to the material in this workbook if desired. The Manual also includes a Training Facilitators Guide which contains an introduction to the field of diversity management and cross-cultural communication training and advice and instructions on how to design and facilitate a one-day training program.

A Note on Workbook Preparation: Presentation Slides Handout

To prepare the workbook for printing, print out the accompanying PowerPoint slide presentation as a black and white handout of 4 or 6 slides per page as preferred, and insert it after this page.

The worksheets and other information are to follow the inserted PowerPoint handout.

The Business Case for Managing Cultural Diversity: Compliance Factors

"Many migrants who come to Australia for economic reasons expect discrimination and prejudice – and find it. But the fact is that I am better off than if I had stayed in my home country, so I don't speak up. The discrimination does have a negative impact, but I put up with it. Sure, things would be much better, and I could contribute more, if I didn't feel that I was being held back all the time."

Summarise Your Business Case for Managing Cultural Diversity: Example

- Due to a global skills shortage in engineering we face difficulties in attracting and retaining international professionals. Some are going to our competitors. Language and cultural differences are also hindering integration and productivity.
- Unless we act to develop a culturally competent recruitment and career development process we face reduced competitiveness and inability to capitalise on opportunities for growth.
- The proposed process will deliver:
 - increased retention of professionals
 - employ of diverse, reputable overseas and in Australia
 - greater production capacity, faster effectiveness
 - reduction of labour turnover costs.

Cross Cultural Communication

"People don't get along because they fear each other. People fear each other because they don't know each other."

"They don't know each other because they have not properly communicated with each other."

Dr Martin Luther King, 1929-68

© 2008 Pearson Education, Inc.

"Hierarchy is so much stronger in France and Britain than it is here. I am used to having to use quite formal language... Here there is great openness and more opportunities to network across levels of the organisation. People are seen more on the same level as human beings (rather than as holders of jobs or positions)."

"Disagreements occur in situations where people become offended... People in that kind of situation are defensive. I had to get used to the fact that here you can disagree with someone's idea but still be friendly with them at the end of the day."

"I am a very direct person – even to Brazil people thought that – and I have to tone it down a lot here. In conflict situations, people want you to stick to the facts... In my culture, we want to engage."

What is "Culture"?

"Culture: n. the sum total of ways of living built up by a group of human beings, which is transmitted from one generation to the next."

Herbert Spencer

What is "Culture"?

"Culture is communication and communication is culture. People cannot act or interact at all in any meaningful way except through the medium of culture."

Edward T. Hall, The Silent Language, 1966

Executive Education Foundation

What is "Culture"?

- "Culture is the collective programming of the mind which distinguishes the members of one category of people from another."
Geert Hofstede, 1984
- "Culture is a deep phenomenon, merely manifested in a variety of behaviours. Culture is the pattern of automatic assumptions, unconsciously held and taken for granted."
Edgar Schein, 1985

What is "Culture"?

"Culture hides much more than it reveals, and strangely enough, what it hides, it hides most effectively from its participants."

Edward T. Hall, 1966

Executive Education Foundation

What is "Culture"?

A culture is the way a group of people have learned to solve problems and resolve dilemmas.

It is the way we do things around here. The key question for understanding is 'WHY?'

Generalising vs Stereotyping

- Grouping elements to form logical categories to make sense of a complex world
 - Western societies tend to be individualistic
 - Germans tend to value efficiency and formality
 - U.S. Americans prize personal achievement
 - Japanese society values discretion and politeness
- Categorizing people as a group, ignoring individual differences
 - Australians are selfish
 - Germans are uptight
 - Americans are slow-offs
 - Japanese never say what they really think

Understanding the Process of Cultural Adaptation: Coping with Changes

Different climate	Different housing	Separation
Home sickness	No friends	New friends
Different humor	New foods	Language
Money worries	Unfamiliar jobs	Prejudice
Shyness	New ways of eating	Slang and idioms
Body language	Different values	New freedoms
Unspoken rules	More responsibility	Different laws

Understanding Cross-Cultural Adaptation

- Immigrants: Change by choice
 - Own decision. Preparation. Resources, Networks.
 - Stronger sense of identity, self-worth, competence, security, belonging and acceptance. Looking forward.
- Refugees: Change by chance.
 - Others' decision. Little or no preparation. No or very few resources and networks.
 - Strong sense of self-reliance but weaker sense of identity, self-worth, competence, security, belonging and acceptance. Looking backward.

Adapted from: Kegan Foundation

What is 'Culture Shock'?

- "Culture Shock" is the psychological disorientation most people experience when they have extended contact with a different culture to their own.
- It builds up over time and manifests itself in different emotions and behaviours.
- Culture shock can affect our senses of identity, self-worth, competence, security and belonging.

Adapted from: Kegan Foundation

Stages of Cultural Adaptation

Stage 1: Contact/ Honeymoon

- Stage 2: Disintegration/Disorientation
- Stage 3: Re-integration/Irritability & Hostility
- Stage 4: Autonomy/Adjustment & Integration
- Stage 5: Independence/ Biculturality

Adapted from: Corey, Training for the Cross-Cultural Mind, 2004
Kegan Foundation

Stages of Cultural Adaptation

Stage 1: Contact/ Honeymoon

- Differences are interesting
- We are insulated by our own culture
- Perceptions of new culture screened by own culture
- Excitement, stimulation, discovery
- Curious, assured, positive

Adapted from: Kegan Foundation

Stages of Cultural Adaptation

Stage 2: Disintegration/Disorientation

- Differences have more impact and begin to intrude on our sense of well-being
- We miss the cultural support of our home culture
- We misread or miss new cultural cues
- We may feel confused, isolated, apathetic, inadequate. We lose some self-esteem
- We may become depressed, withdrawn

Adapted from: Kegan Foundation

Stages of Cultural Adaptation

Stage 3: Reintegration/Irritability and Hostility

- We begin to reject and criticize the new culture
- We can feel angry, nervous, anxious, frustrated
- We become pre-occupied with our likes and dislikes
- We become more self-assertive, opinionated
- Growing self-esteem and determination

Adapted from: Kegan Foundation

Stages of Cultural Adaptation
Stage 4: Autonomy/Adjustment & Integration

- We recognise and understand the differences and similarities.
- We become more self-assured, confident, relaxed, warm to others.
- We can negotiate most new situations.
- We feel assured of our ability to deal with new experiences in the new culture.

Australian Skills Centre
 Foundation

Stages of Cultural Adaptation
Stage 5: Independence / Biculturality

- We become more accepting of differences and similarities, valuing the diversity within our adopted society.
- We are able to fully express our personality with trust, humour and affection.
- We are once again fully capable of choice, and of creating meaning for situations.

5 Stages of Cultural Adaptation

- Most people experience distinct psychological stages when adapting to a new culture, from first contact to full adjustment.
- Some people adapt more easily and quickly than others.
- Understanding that it is a common experience helps us to adjust to new cultures and enables us to help others adjust to Australian culture.

Managing Culturally Diverse Teams

“Education in China is based on rote learning... Here, people want you to express your own opinions... People are open to different individuals’ ideas and then they pick and choose the best ones.”

“To the company, I am just another employee, while in Pakistan I was a member of the organisation.”

“I find that there is more emphasis on teamwork here... In my opinion, Australia’s correct beginnings have contributed to more of an ‘all for one and one for all’ attitude than you’d find in the USA or Britain.”

22. Recommend Actions
- 23a. Develop a Cultural Diversity Management Action Plan
- 23b. Action Planning Example: Occupational Health and Safety
- 23c. Action Planning Example: Implementing a Cross-Cultural Training Program

Worksheet #1: Select a Project, Program or Process for Diversity Analysis

1. Project, Program or Process Description

Examples: Redesign of Occupational Health and Safety Induction and Training.
Design and conduct community or target country market research surveys and focus groups.
Attract and retain skilled migrants.

2. What is the problem or opportunity this project, program or process will address?

Examples: Problem: Poor Occupational Health and Safety understanding and practices among recently arrived employees from culturally diverse backgrounds.

Opportunity: Expansion of market share by providing culturally appropriate services/products to culturally diverse communities/ new overseas markets.

3. Desired Outcomes of the Project, Program or Process

Examples: Improved safety awareness and practice, reduced accidents, improved morale & productivity.
Effective marketing program design.

Worksheet #2: Situation Analysis

Identify Macro Environment Trends for Your Business Which Are Influenced by or Arise From Cultural Diversity

Every business operates within a broad, macro environment which is commonly analysed in terms of four political, economic, social and technological categories of trends which are outside of the control of the business.

Considering your enterprise as a whole and the project, program or process you have selected for analysis, note below any trends in each category that impact on your enterprise and in which workforce or customer cultural diversity is now or could be influential.

Category	List any relevant trends in each category in which cultural diversity is or might become influential.
Political	e.g. immigration policy, changes in visa requirements, source countries, numbers and categories of immigrants, foreign trade agreements
Economic	e.g. interest rates, exchange rates, personal disposable income, wage rates, recession, boom, globalisation, industry trends
Social/Cultural	e.g. ageing population, new multicultural communities, increased job mobility, increased workforce diversity
Technological	e.g. IT, robotics, nanotechnology, communications, materials

Worksheet #3: Situation Analysis

Identify the Economic and Social Drivers for Managing Cultural Diversity in Your Enterprise and Industry

Cultural diversity already is or could be a significant factor, economically and socially, in several areas, including:

- Complying with equal opportunity, safety and anti-discrimination regulations
- Competing for talent and overcoming skills shortages
- Adapting to the realities of increased workforce and labour market diversity
- Managing and developing knowledge and innovativeness
- Managing workplace and customer relationships
- Developing and maintaining good community relations
- Meeting increased workforce expectations of conditions and opportunities
- Marketing to and serving culturally diverse domestic and overseas customers
- Competing in a culturally diverse international business environment
- Ensuring ethical conduct, due diligence and social responsibility

List the economic and social drivers for managing workforce and customer cultural diversity in your own industry and enterprise. Recognise that many of the drivers are closely related. Then rank the importance to your own business of all the drivers you have identified on the following scale.

1 = Low Importance 2 = Important 3 = Very important

Economic Drivers	Rank	Social Drivers	Rank
e.g. improving profitability, attracting quality staff, expanding markets		e.g. good community relations, workplace harmony, ethics

Worksheet #4: Identify Your Workforce and Customer Cultural Diversity

List below the cultural backgrounds of your workforce and your customer base.

Workforce Cultural Backgrounds	Customer Cultural Backgrounds

Identifying Your Future Workforce and Customer Cultural Diversity

If you are planning to hire new employees or to begin offering products and services to new customers, in Australia or overseas, list their actual or probable cultural backgrounds below.

Future Workforce Cultural Backgrounds	Future Customer Cultural Backgrounds

Plotting Workforce and Customer Cultures

One technique for studying cultures is to plot them along an arc representing some general characteristics, which will be explained during the workshop. To begin this process, we will plot all of the cultural backgrounds listed by the group on an arc. Then you can plot your own listed cultures on the arc below.

Worksheet #5: Diversity and Equity Issues: Agree/Disagree Exercise

Business owners, managers and staff must deal with many issues arising from the complexities of human diversity on a daily basis.

Instructions:

First. In Column 1, please indicate whether you strongly agree (SA), agree (A), disagree (D) or strongly disagree (SD) with the following statements. You have 90 seconds.

Second. Compare your answers with another person. You must reach agreement on each question. Write your agreed answers (A, D etc) in Column 2. You have 5 minutes.

Third. With the other person, discuss your answers to the questions with two other people, again trying to reach a consensus answer to the questions. Record your Agree or Disagree answers in column 3. You have 5 minutes.

	1	2	3
1. Because cultural diversity is just a fact of life, calling attention to cultural differences is unnecessary and potentially divisive.
2. The laws against discrimination, racism and harassment have been in place for so long now that most employees know what must or must not be done in any given workplace or customer service situation.
3. When communication problems happen between people from different cultural and social backgrounds, cultural and social differences are less important than personality differences.
4. The responsibility of a manager is to plan, organise and measure the work of all staff in the same way regardless of their individual differences.
5. Managers may need to treat people differently to ensure fairness, but in reality, employees should not expect different treatment because they have all been hired on their ability to perform their duties and have all agreed to the terms of standard job specifications and contracts.
6. Customers should not expect to be treated differently because of their cultural differences.

Discussion:

Which statements generated most difference of opinion? Why?

What lessons regarding workplace communications can be drawn from this exercise?

Worksheet #6:
Workplace and Customer Service Cross-Cultural Experiences

In the business project or area you are analysing, when have cultural or language differences been significant? Describe the experiences and list the issues and impacts for your business. What happened? What problems were caused? How did you deal with them?

In your group, briefly describe your experiences or situations, noting the key points on the left side of a chart. On the right, list the main issues involved in the situation.

The Experiences

The Issues

Example: Employee of Middle Eastern background resists instructions from female supervisor. Seeks transfer to a team with a male supervisor. Denies that he is biased against women.	Gender equity and discrimination Team effectiveness Team morale Stress
---	---

Worksheet #7:

Draft Your Cultural Diversity Management Business Case Summary

Draft a business case for your enterprise to take actions to manage cultural diversity in the workforce and/or the customer base in order to solve problems or realise opportunities. The business case may relate to the enterprise as a whole or to the project, program or process you have selected for analysis.

- What is the current situation? What is the problem or opportunity?
- Who is directly involved or affected? Workforce, Customers, Other Stakeholders
- Why do we need to take action? What are the consequences of doing nothing?
- What is the desired situation?
- What do we need to do and when? Action planning.
- How should we do it? Strategies, internal and external resources, funding.
- Who will be responsible or involved?

Worksheet #8: Cultural Diversity Demographic Data

An essential aspect of managing workforce diversity and delivering public services is knowing the demographic make-up of the team you manage and the community you serve and keeping up to date with population trends and changes.

Cultural Diversity Quiz:

Sources: ABS 2006 Census

1. In 2006, 4.4 million Australian residents (24% of the population) were overseas born. Approximately what proportion of these were born in a non-English speaking country?

One half Two thirds One quarter One third

2. What percentage of Australians were born overseas or have at least one parent who was born overseas?

16% 27% 31% 44%

3. What percentage of Australian citizens were born in an Asian country?

2% 6% 13% 21%

4. What percentage of Australians are Indigenous Australians?

2.4% 3.3% 5.9% 12.7%

5. What percentage of Australians are Muslims?

1.7% 0.7% 3.9% 9.1%

6. What percentage of Australians are Christians?

32.1% 63.9% 43.9% 89.1%

Discussion :

How did you score?

What statistics provided the biggest surprises?

How important is demographic data for you in your job?

What is the demographic makeup of your workforce and customer base?

What percentage of your employees were born in a non-English speaking country?

What percentage of your customers were born in a non-English speaking country?

Getting the Facts:

Detailed information on cultural diversity nationally and in each state and territory is available free of charge from the Australian Bureau of Statistics Website at <http://www.abs.gov.au>. A good starting point is the 11-page "Cultural Diversity Overview", which can be downloaded from the site.

Worksheet #9: Values, Attitudes and Prejudices

The values, attitudes and prejudices held by a culture embody the way a group of people sees the world. The comparisons presented below are generalisations that are useful in understanding the complex and hidden dimensions of cultures.

In this exercise, tick the value statement in each box that you think the majority of people from your culture would agree with. If you personally would choose the other statement in the pair, circle the box beside it.

1. "I need to know quite a lot about someone before I will deal commercially with them. Then, I trust them and their word is enough for me."

2. "I don't need to know a lot about someone before I deal commercially with them. Instead of trusting them completely, I make sure we have a legal contract."

1. _____ 2. _____

3. "In my world, the things that matter most are myself and my immediate family."

4. "In my world, the group is far more important than the individual."

3. _____ 4. _____

5. "It is acceptable that people who have far more wealth and status than others should have greater privileges and more power over other people and should deserve automatic respect."

6. "Having more power and wealth should not entitle any member of society to put themselves above other people. They are no better than other people and must earn respect like everyone else."

5. _____ 6. _____

7. "Personal achievement and success are my most important goals."

8. "Caring for others and improving the quality of life for everyone are my most important goals."

7. _____ 8. _____

9. "I dislike it when people try to bend the company rules."

10. "Sometimes a rule should be bent or broken if doing so is in the best interests of the organisation."

9. _____ 10. _____

Discussion: Compare your choices with other group members. Are differences of choice based on cultural values or personal values and preferences?

Worksheet #10: The Stages of Cultural Adaptation

At what stages of cultural adaptation were any of the people involved in the workplace or customer service experiences discussed earlier?

Stage 1: Contact/Honeymoon

Perceptions	Emotions	Behaviours	Interpretations
Differences are intriguing. Perceptions screened.	Excitement Stimulation Euphoria Discovery	Curiosity Assured High energy Laughter	Person insulated by own culture. Observations confirm identity.

Stage 2: Disintegration/Disorientation

Perceptions	Emotions	Behaviours	Interpretations
Differences are impactful. Contrasts can't be screened out	Confusion Disorientation Apathy Isolation Inadequacy	Depression Withdrawal	Differences begin to intrude. Loss of self esteem. Loss of cultural support ties. Misreads new culture cues

Stage 3: Reintegration/Irritation and Hostility

Perceptions	Emotions	Behaviours	Interpretations
Differences are rejected	Anger Rage Nervousness Anxiety Frustration	Rebellion Suspicion Hostility Rejection Exclusion Opinionated	Rejection of new culture causes preoccupation with like and dislikes. Negative behaviours a form of self-assertion and growing self-esteem

Stage 4: Autonomy/ Adjustment and Integration

Perceptions	Emotions	Behaviours	Interpretations
Differences and similarities are legitimised	Self-assured Relaxed Warmth Empathy	Assured Controlled Independent "Old hand" Confident	Socially and linguistically capable of negotiating most new situations. Assured of ability to survive new experiences.

Stage 5: Independence/ Biculturality

Perceptions	Emotions	Behaviours	Interpretations
Differences and similarities are valued and significant	Trust Humour Love	Expressive Creative Actualising Full range of previous emotions	Social, psychological and cultural differences are accepted and enjoyed. Capable of choice and responsibility. Able to create meaning for situations.

Notes/Questions:

Worksheet #14: Identify Performance Indicators

Identify the relevant broad performance indicator categories in which the success of the project, program or process will be measured. Not every category will be relevant to every project.

Category	Indicators
Social	Example: Increased sense of inclusiveness and social cohesion in workforce, measured by improved attitude survey results, reduced labour turnover and increased team effectiveness.
Legal	Examples: complaints, grievances, training, resolutions
Organisational	Examples: diversity, opportunity, retention, reputation
Market	Examples: reputation, demand, relations, branding
Financial	Examples: costs, savings, investments, returns

Worksheet #15: Identify the Benefits of Cultural Diversity Management

Select the anticipated benefits of achieving the specific project performance indicators you listed on Worksheet 13.

ORGANISATIONAL FACTORS

- Improved long term planning accounting for demographic trends
- Inclusive human resource management policies and practices
- Improved work team interactions and relationships
- Improved productivity and morale
- Improved retention and development of employees
- Improved performance in management and team functions
- Improved acquisition and management of human resources
- Enhanced flexibility in response to market changes
- Reduced costs of faulty processes
- Improved problem solving and decision making
- Wider range of skills and perspectives available
- Enhanced innovation and creativity
- Other

COMPLIANCE FACTORS

Managing Cultural Diversity Resources and Support

There are many other resources and support services for enterprises interested in better understanding and managing cultural diversity in their workforce and customer base.

There is a list of resources and support services in the accompanying Managing Cultural Diversity Resources Manual. While the list is not exhaustive, the resources have been selected on the basis of their general relevance and usefulness to managers in all types of enterprises.

The resources and support agencies are listed in the manual under the following headings:

- Books
- Manuals and Guides
- Support Agencies and Organisations
- Interpreting and Translating Organisations
- Training and Consultancy Providers

There are many more books, training resources and products available through channels such as libraries, educational institutions, government departments and specialist publishers.

An internet search based on general terms such as "cross-cultural communication", "diversity management" or the names of specific cultural groups will bring up thousands of websites.

There are numerous agencies and associations that are able to provide support in the forms of consultancy, advisory, support, referral and training services.

As it is not within the scope of this manual to list every organisation in Australia, the support section lists key contacts and types of organisations and government agencies which can provide the required services or refer you to the most appropriate ones.

Glossary of Key Terms

This glossary includes the key terms used in this training program and in the resource manual. The terms are defined in accordance with standard usages as they appear in dictionaries and are also explained or discussed as appropriate. Many of the expanded definitions are those provided by specialist agencies such as the Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commission. Other definitions and discussions are derived from the range of literature concerning the terms.

Cultural Competence

'Cultural Competence' comprises the awareness, knowledge, skills, practices and processes needed to function effectively and appropriately in culturally diverse situations in general and in particular interactions with people from different cultures.

Culture

The term 'culture' has several definitions, from the biological to the artistic. Sociological or anthropological definition describes culture as "the sum total of ways of living built up by a group of human beings, which is transmitted from one generation to the next" (Macquarie Dictionary). It is also defined as a group's shared system of beliefs, values and rules of conduct. Culture is an abstract concept. Culture is constantly changing and includes diverse sub-cultures.

Culture Shock

"Culture Shock" is the psychological disorientation most people experience when they have extended contact with a different culture to their own. The reason this disorientation can have such a profound effect on people is that many of the cultural differences we experience threaten, or appear to threaten, our sense of meaning in life.

Discriminate/Discrimination

To discriminate is defined as "to make a distinction, as in favour or against a person or thing; to note or observe a difference; to differentiate; to distinguish accurately" (Macquarie Dictionary).

Discrimination, Types of

Direct Discrimination: Treating someone in an unfair or unequal way because of attributes such as sex, colour, ethnicity, age or sexual preference. Direct racial discrimination happens when someone is treated less fairly because of his or her perceived race, colour, descent, national origin or ethnic origin.

Indirect Discrimination: A rule or requirement that is the same for everyone but which has the effect or result of disadvantaging a group sharing the same attributes. Indirect racial discrimination happens when there is an unfair effect on more people of a particular perceived race, colour, descent, or national or ethnic origin than on others. Unlike direct discrimination, indirect discrimination may be justified if the policy or rule is reasonable and relevant to the particular circumstances.

Institutionalised Discrimination: Covert or hidden discrimination against particular groups (often unconscious) built into the seemingly neutral practices and policies of an institution or organisation.

Diversity

In the context of managing employees and serving customers, the term 'diversity' means all of the significant differences between people that need to be considered in particular situations and circumstances.

Diversity Management

"Diversity Management" is the on-going process of incorporating the recognition of workforce and customer differences into all core business management functions, communications, processes and services to create a fair, harmonious, inclusive, creative and effective organisation.

Ethnic / Ethnicity

Ethnic, an adjective "1. pertaining to or peculiar to a population, especially to a speech group, loosely also to a race. 2. referring to the origin, classification, characteristics etc of such groups. 3. recognisable as coming from an identifiable culture." (Macquarie Dictionary). Ethnicity, a noun, is described as a sense of belonging to and sharing the characteristics of a population including similarities of territory, place of origin, language, dialect, physical characteristics, religion and customs.

Generalising

To generalise is "to give a general (rather than specific) character to; to infer (a general principle) from facts" (Macquarie Dictionary). Generalising is the grouping of elements to form logical categories to make sense of a complex world. We say, "In general, most people from this country, culture, community or organisation behave in certain ways." (See 'stereotyping').

Knowledge Management

"Knowledge Management" is the range of practices involved in identifying, creating, continuously expanding, improving and sharing the knowledge, experiences and insights of members of the organisation. The learning organisation or knowledge organisation is one which finds the most efficient ways of sharing knowledge among workers to build its knowledge as a strategic capability.

Prejudice

Prejudice is defined as "an unfavourable opinion or feeling formed beforehand or without knowledge, thought or reason; any preconceived opinion or feeling, favourable or unfavourable; disadvantage resulting from some judgement or action of another" (Macquarie Dictionary).

Race

Most dictionaries define 'race' as "a group of people of common ancestry with distinguishing physical features, such as skin colour or build", and also as "human beings collectively; the human race." (Collins Essential English Dictionary 2006) or as "a category of humankind that shares certain distinctive physical traits" (Merriam-Webster Dictionary, 2007). In these definitions, race is a categorisation of people based only on the way they look.

The term 'race' is no longer used by anthropologists or other social scientists as the concept is deemed to be a social and political construct with little or no basis in scientific fact. All human groups belong to the species Homo sapiens and share 99.9% of genetic material.

Racism

Racism is defined as "1. A belief that race is the primary determinant of human traits and capacities and that racial differences produce an inherent superiority of a particular race 2: racial prejudice or discrimination." (Merriam-Webster Dictionary, 2007).

The belief that there are human races which have distinctive characteristics that determine their respective cultures usually involves the idea that one's own race is superior and has the right to rule or dominate others.

Offensive, aggressive or discriminatory behaviour to members of other perceived races stemming from such a belief.

Stereotyping

A stereotype is "a set form; convention; a standardised idea or concept" (Macquarie Dictionary). Stereotyping is the application of categorisations of general observation to whole groups of people, ignoring individual differences. We say, "All people from this country, culture, community or organisation behave in certain ways."
